

The Right Of Te People Peaceably To Assemble --> To Assemble

By Kevin A. Sensenig
tccc
Draft 1.01
2021 December 9

The right of the People peaceably to assemble

to assemble

factories
cars
houses
families
social groups
organizations
religious groups
businesses
corporations
vlsi corporations
computers
computer networks
social networks
cultures
society
labor unions
labor effect
material effect
solitude and a hut
a farm
towns
cities
skyscrapers
distribution networks
political parties with 'to assemble' effect proper capital or free market system or like Right and rights and fcn system toward this set and concept 'to assemble' etc.
proper vote and to choose and and electors and like Right and rights and fcn state toward this set and concept 'to assemble' etc.
a theory and praxis, and a theory-praxis fields of study
to assemble

dimension appears!

roads,
althought the state does this

uh-oh

:-)

whatis the state and the people

I am a Marxist with tccc esprit te compute center constitution of the USA of America is important titled the United States

Thanks Circuit Judge (Kentucky) Jennifer B. Coffman! (See 2011 Jan 5 Cox decision. 'Freedom Of Association', Free Speech, and ...)

the writing in her decision is precisely what I think is what the best of the federal circuit does: clarity, dimension, and relevant.

...

tccc

People choose
Electors
Qualifications

right
Rights
right to Right
Right and rights
right to rights
rights

1776

a free state

the people
the state

a free people and a free state

States
Federal
Congress
Republic 1) National, 2) within Each State -- (guaranteed a republican form of government) the freedom peaceably to assemble the freedom of speech, and such speech must be free the freedom peaceably to assemble, and such 'peaceably to assemble' must be free it must be assembly, 'peaceably to assemble'. A term with equally substantial basis: 'The merit of'.

When you /assemble/ something, it has to be on the merits of this actual world, and it has to be fcn, and it has to be 'to assemble'

Postscript

Wittgenstein, in his work of philosophy 'Tractatus Logic-Philosophicus', says that 'object', 'number', 'fact', 'function' are without sense, senseless. Now, how do you assemble 'to assemble'? Along with 'object', 'number', 'fact', etc? And what is a Thing, object, number, and their meta- ? This is material to tccc, and all of life; Zen Buddhist fun!

2021 Nov 10 2021 Nov 11 2021 Dec 9 Kevin A. Sensenig

tccc

www.tpdrcouga.com